JULY 19, 1995.—Referred to the House Calendar and ordered to be printed

Mr. SOLOMON, from the Committee on Rules, submitted the following

REPORT

[To accompany H. Res. 193]

The Committee on Rules, having had under consideration House Resolution 193, by a nonrecord vote, report the same to the House with the recommendation that the resolution be adopted.

BRIEF SUMMARY OF PROVISIONS OF RESOLUTION

The resolution provides for the consideration of two measures: H.R. 2058, the China Policy Act of 1995; and H.J. Res. 96, disapproving the extension of most-favored-nation status to the products of the People's Republic of China.

The rule provides first for the consideration of H.R. 2058 in the House subject to 90 minutes of debate equally divided between the chairman and ranking minority member of the International Relations Committee or their designees. Finally, the rule provides for one motion to recommit which, if containing instructions may only be offered by the Minority Leader or his designee.

After disposition of H.R. 2058, it is in order to consider H.J. Res. 96 in the House, subject to one hour of debate, equally divided between Representative Wolf of Virginia and Representative Archer of Texas or their designees. Pursuant to procedures in the Trade Act of 1974, the previous question is considered as ordered on the joint resolution to final passage without intervening motion except one motion to table if offered by Representative Wolf or his designee. The procedures of the Trade Act shall not apply to any other China MFN extension disapproval resolution during the remainder of the first session of the 104th Congress.
